

Your Micro Pig Care Sheet

A good quality Sow and Weaner Mix is recommended. Alternatively, a specialist Pot Bellied Pig Food can be used. Your Micro Pig should be fed twice a day, preferably at the same times each day.

You should confine your pig to a smallish area whilst it gets used to new surroundings and people. Gradually allow them more roaming (normally within - days).

Ensure that your piglet is kept warm.

You must never feed your pig kitchen waste however, you can supplement their food with fruit and vegetables.

Your pig needs access to the outdoors as well as the indoors if it is to be happy and healthy.

Your pig will need worming at least every 6 months. The best way to do this is a visit to the vet.

Strange as this may sound, it is a good idea to have a Pig First Aid Box. You can ask your vet for help with this but some inclusions are wound powder, surgical spirit, septic cleanse wound dressing.

You will need to 'Pig Proof' your home.

Pigs need lots of water so you need to ensure it has a clean supply at all times.

If you are going on holidays, don't leave your pig home alone.

Don't forget, we are here to answer your questions so don't be afraid to give us a call.
